

CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS – Videographer

Are you passionate about storytelling health and well-being through engaging and inspiring videos? Interested in advocating for social determinants of health and their impact on people? REACH Community Health Centre is seeking a creative volunteer videographer to join our team!

This project-based volunteer opportunity involves producing a series of short, compelling videos to capture authentic community voices by interviewing diverse individuals – our patients, clients, staff, and partners, and celebrating 55 years of REACH’s connections with the community. These videos will be featured on our 55th anniversary campaign throughout the year and on our social media platforms to highlight our milestone and raise awareness of how community health centres positively impact people’s health and lives.

The project is ideal for someone interested in working in a non-profit setting in the future, aiming to enhance their portfolio with meaningful content, while showcasing their work to a wide audience through our social media platforms. The chosen volunteer will collaborate with various staff members, working remotely with flexible hours, and occasional in-person meetings may be required.

Join us in creating impactful videos that inspire, educate, and promote health and wellness in our community. Together, let’s tell stories that matter!

Volunteers timeline

Mid -June to September, 2024 (TBD)

Projected tasks and deliverables

- Consult with relevant staff members to determine project’s scope
- Develop a storyline, prepare interview questions, and a shooting framework
- Prepare and present visual communication ideas/concepts for the opening and closing scenes of the video series that are consistent with REACH’s brand, values, and goals
- Coordinate shooting locations and schedules
- Conduct interviews and operate video recording equipment
- Edit the footage, adjust audio, and prepare the final cut

Criteria for selection

- 1 to 2 years of relevant experience and education in videography
- Competent using relevant video filming and editing software
- Own their own equipment and software to execute the project
- Able to manage their time efficiently to produce materials within a given deadline

- Experience in collaborative leadership; being able to conduct themselves professionally and express their expectations clearly and respectfully when multiple stakeholders are involved in a project
- Excellent communication, time, and project management skills
- Pay attention to the details
- Ability to work in a fast-paced and deadline driven environment
- Obtain up-to-date videography trend and new technologies
- Experience working for a nonprofit, or healthcare is an asset

Application submission deadline

May 31, 2024

How to apply

To apply, please send the following to info@reachcentre.bc.ca Subject line: Volunteer Videographer

- Video portfolio which best highlights your work relevant to above job description
- a CV and cover letter

We thank all applicants for their interest, however only those candidates selected for interviews will be contacted.

About REACH

REACH Community Health Centre is a community-governed non-profit organization in East Vancouver serving the community for 55 years. We believe that good health is a state of physical, mental, and social well-being and strives to provide innovative, high-quality primary healthcare, pharmaceutical care, dental care, and social determinants of health in action. <https://www.reachcentre.bc.ca/>

REACH proudly celebrates the diversity in our neighbourhood and amongst our staff. We strongly encourage applications from people of under-represented communities, including Indigenous, migrant, people with disabilities, people of colour and LGBTQ2S+ individuals. We are committed to providing access to employment opportunities and fair treatment for all by accommodating unique differences.